

NEW YORK Approved For Release 2001/08/20 : CIA-RDP75-00001R000200430010-8
 HERALD TRIBUNE MAR 21 1962

WASHINGTON BEAT

By the Herald Tribune
 Washington Staff

The extensive reorganization of the Central Intelligence Agency continues. It will be announced in the next days that Dr. Herbert Scoville Jr.,

New York-born scientist, has been chosen as Deputy Director for Research. This post has been newly created by CIA Director John A. McCone. A specialist on atomic weapons, Dr. Scoville is presently a consultant to the President's Scientific Advisory Committee. Insiders at the CIA say that the appointments Mr. McCone has made to the top spots have been well received throughout the organization.

CPYRGHT